Sub Sector

Urban infrastructure, environment, finance

Programme Description

While Indian urban growth is impressive and urban share of population has been rising at a faster rate, provision of urban services and amenities has fallen woefully short. Deficiencies in water supply and sewage disposal as well as waste management infrastructure lead to environmental degradation. India's National Capital Region is especially concerned by the described phenomenon. Hence, the National Capital Region Planning Board (NCRPB) was created in the 1980s to systematically develop the region. The design of the current project shall enable NCRPB to promote efficient and innovative instruments of urban infrastructure financing. The project is embedded in the Cities Development Initiative for Asia (CDIA), a joint cooperation of the German Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ) and the Asian Development Bank (ADB) as well as other donors. ADB has sanctioned a credit line to the NCRPB. KfW and ADB are envisaging a parallel financing of their respective credit lines. In a first feasibility study the general feasibility of the German Financial Cooperation support to the NCRPB was analysed and the financing programme as a parallel financing with the proposed ADB credit line was prepared. Part of this study was an overview of projects eligible to be financed by NCRPB with KfW funds.

Consultancy Services required

In this second phase of the consulting services it is intended to enlarge the mentioned sub-project pipeline already developed in the course of the feasibility study – phase I in preparation of the German Cooperation programme and to support the preparation of the new pipeline projects up to a level ready for NCRPB financing. An independent consultant company with international experience in environment related urban infrastructure investment and financing is therefore required to:

- complete the sub-project preparation based on the pipeline of the feasibility study – phase I;
- identify, develop, design and prepare DPRs, including environmental and social analysis for tentative project volume of atleast EUR 50 million
- identify and prepare an additional pipeline of sub-projects for a tentative project volume of at least EUR 150 million.
- prepare proposal for accompanying measures for grant of EUR 1 million
- develop a regional project concept for municipal services and concrete sub project ideas;
- undertake financial feasibility analyses of identified sub-projects.

The consulting services shall be performed over a period of approximately 6 months beginning in the last quarter of 2010 or first quarter of 2011. Participating consulting companies will not be excluded from participating in a possible tender for consulting services for the implementation of the program. The international consultant may form a consortium / joint venture with consulting companies in India.

Funding

Consulting Services will be financed out of German Grant Fund provided to NCRPB.
